

Āheitanga Ahurea Māori – Māori Cultural Capability

Tertiary practitioners and educators – help your Māori learners achieve greater success by building your knowledge, confidence, and cultural capability about te ao Māori (the Māori world). Ako Aotearoa provides professional learning and development opportunities that provide insights into Māori philosophies, values, and practices. Digital badges can be earned.

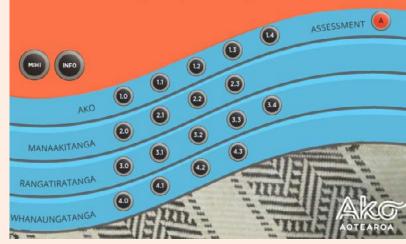

Māori Cultural Capability pathway on Pathways Awarua

The MCC pathway contains multi-media and interactive kōwae/modules about four traditional values and learning/teaching methodologies:

- Ako (Learning and teaching)
- Manaakitanga (Care and consideration)
- Rangatiratanga (Independent decisionmaking and choices, self-empowerment)
- Whanaungatanga (Relationships and relationship-building)

1. Online free MCC modules

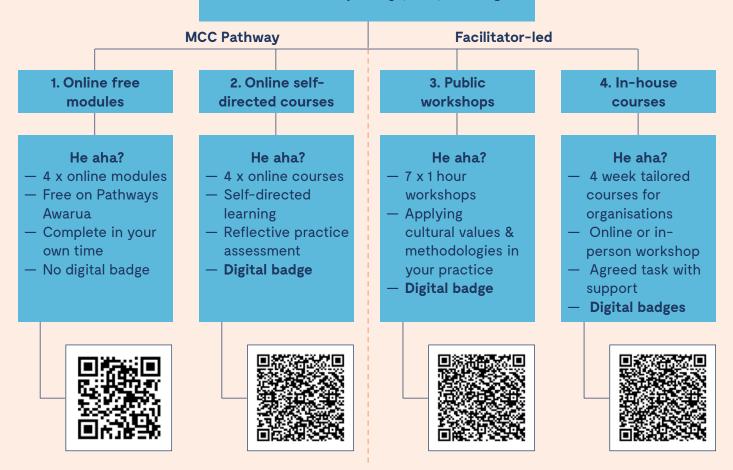

Explore for free on Pathways Awarua at your own pace as an introduction to the MCC content. Register under the 'Educator' login on pathwaysawarua.com.

2. Online self-directed MCC courses

Extend your cultural understanding of the four Māori values and teaching/learning methodologies listed above, and their application in your work practice. Successfully complete an assessment based on your reflective practice to earn a digital badge.

3. MCC Public workshops

A series of seven one-hour online workshops exploring ways to apply the following Māori values/methodologies in various workplace contexts: Ako (Learning-teaching); Tuakana-Teina (Older-younger/experienced-inexperienced); Āta Framework (Thoughtful deliberation before action); Te Whare Tapa Whā (The four dimensions of a person's wellbeing); Manaakitanga (Caring/uplifting each other); Rangatiratanga (Independent decision-making and choices, self-empowerment); and Whanaungatanga (Relationships/relationship-building).

The workshops can be taken individually or as a complete series. A digital badge is awarded for participation and engagement.

4. MCC in-house courses

These are in-depth, four-week sustained courses for organisations seeking to enhance their Māori cultural capability. Courses can be customised to suit tertiary organisations and can include face-to-face or online workshops, as well as an agreed task with facilitator support and feedback. Two digital badges can be awarded for participation and engagement, and successful completion of tasks.
